

Whether you want to market a new substance or keep up to date with your existing ones, there will always be requirements for you under the REACH regulation.

An update might be required because of a compliance check or substance evaluation, the availability of new data or an increase in the tonnage band of your product. You may wish to bring your dossier into line with the current standards or add new uses.

A proactive update improves the quality of the dossier before authorities have a look at it and may identify issues with sufficient time to address them.

With all of the experience we've gained in the last ten years, we're an ideal partner to assist you with the REACH registration of your (industrial) chemicals. We apply our experience with the authorities' wishes to your specific dossier in such a way that it meets the latest standards.

We assist you throughout the various REACH processes that are relevant to you. The necessary activities very much depend on the situation that applies to your substances.

We can assist you in:

- Setting up a registration strategy
- Submitting an inquiry dossier
- Data gap analysis of a new substance
- Setting up a test plan, outsourcing and monitoring studies
- Negotiating with data owners to obtain a letter of access
- (Refinement of) hazard assessments for human health and the environment
- Creating an appropriate read-across justification
- Evaluating potential endocrine-disrupting properties of the substance(s)
- Evaluating the relevant characteristics of nanomaterials
- Deriving DNELs and PNECs
- Creating or updating an IUCLID file, accounting for the most recent developments
- Assistance in (re)defining the appropriate lifecycle and (updating or refining) exposure assessments for humans and the environment, with or without Chesar
- Developing the chemical safety report (CSR)
- Submitting the dossiers
- Communicating with authorities where relevant
